

OANDA Client – Third Party Disclosure

A Third Party and OANDA have entered into an Agreement where The Third Party may solicit and introduce prospective clients such as yourself to OANDA for the purpose of entering into over-the-counter spot foreign currency contracts and/or contracts-for-difference and/or metals (“Transactions”)

Payments to and from third parties:

OANDA may from time to time pay to, and accept from, third parties benefits, commissions or remunerations (“Fees”), which are paid or received in relation to your Transactions. Details are available upon request.

To facility the payment of such Fees, OANDA regularly provides such third parties with information regarding the status of your fxTrade account and trading activity. You hereby consent to OANDA’s disclosure of your account information to such third parties for the purpose of establishing an fxTrade account and facilitating the payment of such Fees.

OANDA and such third parties are independent from one another; and there is no joint venture, partnership, employment, contractor or other relationship of any kind between them. OANDA does not supervise the activities of such third parties and assumes no liability for any representations made by them.

If the third party provides client with information or advice regarding Forex trading, OANDA shall in no way be responsible for any loss to client resulting from client’s use or reliance on such information or advice.
